ENGLISH

Wow! What a great bunch of Young Author stories the 5th graders created! Each story reflected creativity and was a joy to listen to as the kiddos presented them last week. This week we will look at interjections and how they are used in written work.

MATH 1

We wrapped up fractions on Friday & will begin the week reviewing place value before the decimal point. Then we will move on to adding & subtracting decimals.

MATH 2

We will continue our look at the tools of geometry. We will have a quiz Tuesday over lessons 1-3. We will then explore & classify triangles & polygons for the rest of the week.

Math 3

We will be working with reducing fractions this week as well as least common multiple. We will begin practicing reducing fractions daily as we head towards adding, subtracting, multiplying, & dividing fractions in the next couple of weeks. The kiddos need to continue to study the divisibility rules & vocabulary from this chapter.

READING

Our set 18 vocabulary quiz will be on Monday, March 8th so be studying for that over the weekend! In class, we will be watching the movie versions of novels we just read in order to write a compare/contrast essay. The essays will be due Monday, March 15th.

RELIGION

We will be continuing our Lenten Journals and working in the book. Make sure to practice the Nicene Creed for the Prayer recite on Thursday!

SCIENCE

This week we will be wrapping up our chapter on resources, while looking at the "3 Rs". The chapter 2 quiz is scheduled for Thursday. A review game is on quia.com.

SOCIAL STUDIES

We will be wrapping up the building of Jamestown this week & begin looking at other early settlements in the new world. We will be adding to our interactive notebook & start preparing for a chapter test in the next couple of weeks.
